Texas A&M University Staff Council

Article I – MISSION

Mission: The University Staff Council (USC) cultivates a collaborative work environment for Texas A&M staff under the Office of the President through quality representation, impactful service, innovative programs and open workplace communications.

Vision: Staff feel supported, included and valued in this environment where we practice respect, excellence, leadership, loyalty, integrity and selfless service.

Article II – PURPOSE

The council will provide a voice and integrate staff perspective by:

1. Acting as a conduit for two-way communication between staff and administration.
2. Engaging staff and bringing their interests before the administration.
3. Identifying university issues and their impact on staff.
4. Exploring and researching possible solutions to issues.
5. Providing options and recommendations to the President.
6. Collaboration with other councils.

The Council will not be involved in any specific employee/employer matters or disputes.

Article III – COUNCIL MEMBERSHIP

The Council will consist of full voting members and non-voting, ex-officio members. There will be no fewer than twenty-five (25) voting council member positions. There will be no more than ten (10) ex-officio member positions, to include at least one ex-officio agency member from an agriculture agency, and at least one ex-officio agency member from an engineering agency. Ex-officio representation will be nominated by the executive committee and voted to approve by the council.

- A. Eligibility. Council members will be classified or non-classified staff employees. Representatives must have an overall performance evaluation of “Meets Expectations” or higher on their most current Texas A&M University evaluation and have at least 12 months of service in their college, division or unit at the time of the election. All voting council representatives shall be selected through an election process of their peers.
- B. Terms. Council members will serve three-year terms with approximately one third of the Council membership rotating every year. Council members may be elected to successive terms. In the event that a representative has completed at least two years of a term (either a standard three-year term or the completion of an uncompleted term) and will be seeking an elected officer’s position, that representative may petition their home area to allow a one-year extension to their current term. Areas may choose to grant the one-year extension with or without an election by their area. Only one extension will be allowed for any representative. After a granted extension, the term immediately to follow would be for the three years or other normal term as dictated by USC bylaws.
- C. Duties. Council members are required to represent the interests of the employees they serve and the employees of Texas A&M University. Council members are expected to attend and participate in regularly scheduled council meetings and additional committee meetings when needed. The chair and secretary should be informed in advance of any anticipated absences. An absence without prior notification or sending in a substitute will be considered an unexcused absence and will be recorded in meeting minutes. The executive committee shall address issues of non-participation or lack of attendance by a council member after three absences in a twelve month period. Council members will be responsible for disseminating information to the employees they represent. Council members will be expected to serve on at least one standing committee and no more than three.

- D. Vacancies. When a vacancy in a council position occurs before the member's term expires, the vacancy shall remain until the elections committee works with the area that seat represents to submit another representative. The new representative shall serve the remainder of the vacated term.

Article IV – OFFICERS - TERMS

The USC executive officers shall include the chair, vice chair, secretary, treasurer, parliamentarian and past chair. These officers shall constitute the executive Committee. Terms of office for all positions shall be one year. Each officer may serve more than one term, but must be nominated and elected each year by members of the USC. A council member may not hold more than one of the aforementioned executive offices at one time. Annual elections shall be held by May 31st and newly-elected officers shall begin training with outgoing officers and participate in transitioning within their respective new council assignments until assuming office on September 1. Members whose terms are expiring in August are not eligible for the next year's executive committee unless that member has already been re-elected to serve another term on the council.

Should an executive officer transfer employment to another unit or division within Texas A&M University that is eligible for voting membership on the council, regardless of a vacancy, they may continue their role on the council and the executive committee throughout the remainder of the fiscal year. The original unit or division the executive officer represented will fill the vacancy created by the transfer of employment of their representative per Article III D of the bylaws. If the executive officer transfers employment to an agency not eligible for representation as a voting member on the council, his or her membership on the council and the executive committee will cease upon their transfer of their employment.

accomplishment of executive committee responsibilities.

- E) Former Chair. Appointed position to be filled by the most previous chair of the staff council. Should the chair be elected for a second term, this role will be vacant until the chair is replaced, at which time the former chair will fill this role.

In the event any elected executive office becomes vacant, the USC will elect an officer by majority vote from the current membership to fill such vacancy until the next election of officers.

In the event an Executive Officer position has not been filled after following established election procedures, the Executive Committee may create shared (or co-chair) positions to divide the responsibilities of the vacant position between two representatives from the general council. The two elected, co-chairing members would share responsibility for the duties, as defined, until a replacement officer is elected. In the event two general council representatives are unable to assume the co-chair duties, two current, elected Executive Committee members may co-chair the vacant Executive Officer position, in addition to their elected position, until the vacancy can be filled by election.
